A Wilmington woman says she made her husband. Folks down town don't want her to make another one like him.

"What shall be the remedy for polygamy?" asks an exchange. We rather think a funeral for the head of the family would end his troubles.

Smoot, the Mormon Senator says: "One wife is all I want." We are surprised that a man would be mean enough to throw off on his wife like that.

An exchange queries: "Will we ever be able to fly?" We may come to it after awhile. Some folks act now as if they are not hardly able to keep from being flighty.

Senator Bailey, of Texas, wants the Presidential term extended to six years. No use to extend the term. Just increase the punishment during the four years' term.

A Georgia girl broke one of her arms by violently clasping a girl friend around the neck. Things like that will get a stalwart man all broke up let alone a frail girl's arm.

A Chicago man was touched with a woman's pitiful tale of unhappiness, and while he was petting and soothing her she picked his pockets of $675 It was truly a touching incident.

An English minister says meat eating will make a man immoral. There is no use of talking. Cussing will surely grow on a man if every "take" of steak he gets is the gristle end of the bargain.

At the request of Senator Sinclair, the Cumberland county road bill was re-referred to the committee on roads so as to grant a hearing to certain parties.

In the House to day few bills were introduced. The proceedings opened with prayer by Rev. G. B. Starling.

Mr. Woodard made a motion to postpone consideration of the bill until Thursday, as he did not think the bill comprehensive enough.

Mr. Stewart accepted the motion and the consideration of the bill was postponed until Thursday at 12 o'clock.

The Pamlico river fish bill, which was made the special order to-day, was postponed until Wednesday at 12 o'clock.

A joint resolution was adopted inviting the directors of the Jamestown Exposition to address the body on Thursday, February 3d. Winbourne and Cunningham were appointed a committee on the part of the House to receive the directors.

BAPTIST UNION MEETING.

Sunday School Institute Conducted by Rev. Right C. Moore a Feature Yesterday. Appointments for To-day.

The second day's sessions of the union meeting of the Wilmington Baptist Association, in the lecture room of the First Baptist church, this city, yesterday, were marked by an increased attendance and a growing enthusiasm in the work mapped out on the programme. The temperance discussion was continued at the morning session, beginning at 10 o'clock. There was also a discussion of the subject, "The Importance of Denominational Literature in the Homes of Church Members," led by Rev. W. H. Davis, pastor of Southside church, Wilmington.

At the afternoon session Rev. Everett S. Edwards, of Acorn Branch, led the discussion upon the topic, "The Importance of Co-operation in Religious Work."

Last night the Sunday school institute, conducted by the Rev. Right C. Moore, Baptist State Secretary, was a feature of the entire sessions. Rev. Mr. Moore is thoroughly conversant with the best methods o Sunday school work and the institute was both helpful and entertaining. Teachers were asked and instructed about their work and the blackboard was used to illustrate and demonstrate the suggestions and ideas brought out by the speaker.

To-day Rev. Mr. Moore will conduct both the morning and night services at the First church and will hold a rally in connection with the Sunday school meeting at 3:30 P. M. This morning the congregation of Southside Baptist church will attend the service at the First church but there will be preaching at night by the pastor, Rev. W. H. Davis. On account of the sickness of a child, Rev. J. A. McKaughan, pastor of Brooklyn Baptist church, was obliged to return to his home as Ashpole, N. C. yesterday. There will be no service at Brooklyn church to-night but Rev. Everett S. Edwards will preach at the usual hour this morning.

SEABOARD OFFICE PROPERTY.

Home for Postal Telegraph Will be Built. Another Hotel Projected.

Mr. T. W. Wood, who recently acquired the valuable Seaboard Line property on North Front street, has given the contract for a neat and commodious building which, it is understood, will be occupied by the Postal Telegraph Company, next south of the building which now stands on the lot. The building will be of the hollow concrete blocks, brown stone effect, two stories in height and will run back from the street line 33 feet. The front will be solid plate glass and the interior will be fitted up to suit the convenience of the large and growing telegraph business of the Postal in this city. The second floor of the building will probably be occupied as offices for an insurance company. The frame of the building will be of steel.

Contractor Glenn will erect the building and has guaranteed to have it ready for occupancy by April 1st.

It is learned that Mr. Wood will probably in the near future erect a modern, up-to-date, commercial hotel on the site of the present main building on the lot. He is now conferring with parties about the project and something may develop in the near future.

Trains Late Last Night.

The Atlantic Coast Line train from the north was nearly four hous late last night on account of having to wait on connection with No. 39 on the main line from the north. The A. & Y. train was about three hours late on account of a slight accident at Sanford. While the Atlantic Coast Line train was being backed up to take coaches from the Southern, it ran into a lever car and the tender was derailed. No one was injured by the accident and the least possible delay was occasioned.

THE SUPERIOR COURT.

Two-Weeks Term for Trial of Civil Suits Convenes To-morrow Morning.

JURORS FOR THE TERM.

Judge Oliver H. Allen Will Preside by Exchange With Judge Justice—No Matters of Great Importance. Hearings Set for Monday.

New Hanover Superior Court will reconvene tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, Judge Oliver H. Allen presiding by exchange with Judge M. H. Justice, and the session will continue for two weeks unless the calendar of cases is sooner disposed of. Although the law provides that the term is for the trial of both criminal and civil causes, it will be largely devoted to the latter, as the term the past week practically cleared the docket of criminal matters. However, the court will regularly organize to-morrow with a grand jury, but it is presumed that members of the same will be discharged upon the opening day as there are few matters to engage their attention.

The calendar of civil suits for trial this and next week has already been published in these columns. There are no cases of particular interest for the first week, though a number of important damage suits are set down for next week. Those for trial Monday are: R. W. Hicks vs. W. W. Blair; R. W. Hicks vs. C. A. Healey et al., and Curtis Smith vs. Noble Wilson.

The jurors summoned for this week are: H. W. Dixon, Nathan Schloss, T. B. Jackson, J. G. W. Tiencken, Wm. Flanagan, B. R. King, James S. King, W. G. Pulliam, H. J. McMillan, J. D. Mallard, D. J. Watkins, J. C. Walton, Hanson Blanton, D. F. Barnes, J. L. Hawkins, T. B. Kingsbury, J. W. Brooks, J. T. Burke, C. W. Polvogt, H. F. Canady, Robt. E. Smith, M. Marshburn, W. A. Spencer, Joseph A. Driver, J. G. Johnson, E. V. McKenzie, R. J. Casteen, R. J. Jones, T. C. McIlhenny, T. W. Clawson, A. W. Gaskins, J. A. Kelley, R. B. Register, L. V. Cates, J. L. Toon and H. F. Newkirk.

BIG PEANUT BUSINESS.

Record Breaking Run at Mr. W. B. Cooper's Factory for 24 Hours.

Mention was made in these columns a little while ago that Mr. W. B. Cooper, the well-known wholesale grocer, had added extensive peanut cleaning and shelling machinery to his other extensive interests on the wharf. The factory is now running on full time. Lately Mr. Cooper has been so rushed with orders that it has been necessary to run the factory night and day. In this connection a record made for the 24 hours ended at 7 o'clock last night will be of interest. During that period 1,440 bushels of peanuts went through the machinery, cleaned nicely, packed, branded and shipped. It was remarkably fast work and shows that Mr. Cooper is well prepared to take care of the trade. Mr. John W. Creasy, an expert in the peanut business, was "at the helm" during the day of the record-breaking run and Mr. Thomas Cox was in charge at night. The machinery was run without a moment's delay by one of the large 10-horse power motors of the Consolidated Company, which was purchased by Mr. Cooper for motive power when the plant was installed.

NEW MUNICIPAL LEGISLATION.

Important Bills Will be Reported to Board Conference Thursday Night.

The Park Commission of the Board of Aldermen, composed of Mayor Springer and Messrs. W. H. Yopp and P. Q. Moore, met last night in the office of the Mayor, at the City Hall, and gave final consideration to the bill authorizing the city to establish and maintain a public park. The bill was finally agreed upon. The Park bill and the two other measures previously agreed upon by the Legislative Committee with reference to the separation of the races in the street cars and providing a better method of permanently improving the streets, will be reported to a conference of the members of the Board of Aldermen in the Mayor's office Thursday night. All differences of opinion as to the measures will be reconciled at the conference and the bills will then go before the Board of Aldermen at the regular meeting to-morrow night week for recommendation to the Legislature.

Bicycle Thief Nabbed.

Halsey Moore, colored, 22 years of age, was arrested early last night for the larceny of a bicycle from in front of Hardin's Palace Pharmacy, on South Front street. The wheel was left for a moment on the sidewalk by Mr. Hardin, to whom it belonged, and when he returned for it, he found the mechine gone. Search was made at the various places around town and finally the negro was caught in the act of selling it to Mr. Cato Littleton for $2, in front of VanAmringe's auction house on Second street. As soon as he found that the wheel had been stolen, Mr. Littleton held the negro until a policeman came. The negro confessed having taken the wheel, but said he found it in the street in front of Bellamy's drug store.

RIVER AND HARBOR WORK.

Detailed Statement of Appropriation Recommended for Old North State.

There was much local interest here the past week in the announcement from Washington that the river and harbor appropriation bill had been agreed upon and would be reported at once. The bill carries with it a total of something over thirty millions, of which Carolina receives $290,250. The total granted to Virginia is $307,000.

The appropriations for North Carolina in detail are as follows: Beaufort Harbor, $47,000; waterway from Norfolk, Va., to the sounds of North Carolina, $3,000; inland water route from Norfolk, Va., to Albemarle Sound, North Carolina, through Currituck Sound, $22,000; Roanoke River, $10,000; Perquimans River at and near Hertford, $10,250; Scuppernong River, $5,000; Pamlico and Tar rivers, $3,000; Contentnia Creek, $1,000; Neuse and Trent rivers, $30,000; Northeast and Black rivers, and Cape Fear River, above Wilmington, $9,000; Cape Fear River, at and below Wilmington, $150,000. There is a continuing contract item of $300,000 for the latter.

Mr. Alexander Wells Sr.

Policeman Alex. Wells returned yesterday from Hampstead, Pender county, where he went on account of the death of his father, Mr. Alexander Wells Sr., which occurred Wednesday night at 11 o'clock. Mr. Wells was born Sept. 7th, 1832 and died Jan. 25th. 1905. He was, therefore, 72 years and four months of age. He had been a patient sufferer with paralysis for some time and the end came peacefully. He leaves five sons as follows: Messrs. Alex. Wells, of Wilmington; R. K. Wells, of Topsail Sound; Obid and Clivie Wells, of Onslow, and J. D. Wells, of Port Royal, S. C. The funeral was conducted Friday and the remains were laid to rest in the Harrison Creek M. E. church cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of Miss Fannie J. Beers, who fell asleep in Jesus January twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and four.

One precious to our hearts has gone,
The voice we loved is stilled,
The place she's vacant in our home
Can never more be filled.
Our Father in His wisdom called
The boon his love had given;
And though on earth the dear form lies,
The Soul is safe in Heaven.

SUNDAY MORNING, JAN. 29.

THE COTTON SITUATION.

The report of Secretary Hester, of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, published in yesterday's STAR contained many interesting facts about the cotton situation. One of the most astonishing items was that of the present crop Southern spinners have taken 1,085,000 bales to 599,210 bales by Northern and and Canadian spinners. This indicates that the South is spinning more of its cotton year in and year out, and the fact that Southern spinners have laid in a large supply of raw material is a good sign that they will not get left on stock if the price runs up again.

Speaking of cotton, the market reports from New York in yesterday's STAR stated that the action of the New Orleans convention in organizing a movement to curtail production this year did not have any appreciable effect in either Liverpool or New York. The earnest efforts of the convention in cutting down production did not seem to give a reason for sending up prices, but probably later developments will have the desired effect. If the plan of the convention is carried out it is bound in the course of time to materially affect prices. It will take time.

The New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin already sees some of the probable effects of reduced acreage, reduced use of fertilizers and curtailment of production, and sounds this note of alarm:

"If the advice of the Cotton Convention at New Orleans to reduce the acreage planted this year by twenty-five per cent. from that of last year should be generally followed, it would be likely to result in a serious overdoing of the plan of bringing the price up by restricting production. Suppose the product of the last crop should prove to be be 13,000,000 bales. A reduction of 25 per cent. would mean a crop of 9,750,000 bales, assuming the average yield to be the same as last year. But last season was an exceptionally favorable one in spite of the boll weevil in Texas. Climatic conditions favored early planting; conditions for cultivation during summer were unusually auspicious, and the picking season came early and was prolonged. The yield was much above the average for the acreage. Two such seasons in succession are unlikely. Supposed with the reduced area conditions should prove distinctly less favorable for a good crop. A reduction of even ten per cent. on that account would bring the yield down to 8,875,000 bales.

"It is generally calculated that the present manufacturing requirement of the world is for 11,500,000 bales of American cotton, and that it normally increases at the rate of 300,000 annually. Whatever may be the final outcome of efforts to develop other sources of supply they will not have any material effect upon the demand for our cotton in the next few years. On the basis of a 13,000,000-bale crop and a 11,500,000 bale requirement there will be 1,500,000 bales to carry over under the plan of holding back and warehousing to counteract the dipression of price from oversupply. This added even to a 9,750,000-bale crop would be only 11,250,000, while if the crop should fall to 9,000,000 there would be a deficiency of a million bales in case there should be no increase in the calculated demand of existing facilities for manufacturing. Along with the advice for reducing acreage is that for curtailing correspondingly the use of fertilizers so as to make sure of the restriction of supply counted upon. To discharge improved cultivation and increased production per acre is certainly unwise.

"Suppose the shortage indicated by this calculation should occur, what would be the effect? Possible profit to planters for the one season of 1905 6 and certain profit to eager speculators, and serious disturbance of the manufacturing industry, which would be more lastingly if not more severely felt in this country than abroad. The high price consequent upon short supply would probably make the inclination to increase acreage the next year irresistible and uncontrollable, and the wide fluctuation in the supply and in price from year to year would be accentuated instead of restrained. It is desirable to do whatever is practicable to secure a better adjustment of supply and demand and greater stability of value as near as possible to a normal level of cost, but arbitrary schemes devised months in advance for reducing production by a certain percentage are in great danger of causing more harm than good, and it seems pretty certain that a reduction of 25 per cent. in acreage would prove to be excessive."

The Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin is an ably edited paper and its views are to be considered if not taken seriously. The fact is if the cotton producers can effectively put into execution any plan that will prevent a ruinous over production that forces prices down below the cost of making cotton, the convention will have done a good thing. There is no profit in producing cotton at present prices, in view of the increased cost of supplies and labor, and the New Orleans convention will do a good thing if it can prevent the industry from going to rain.

We have never put much faith in the possibility of foreign countries going into cotton raising. There is no danger of competition from the fact that cotton can be grown in other countries, and that really is not to be considered till it is demonstrated that foreign countries can produce cotton as cheaply or cheaper than the South can We believe it will be many a day before the South can have reason to fear anything on that score, indeed if ever such a contingency will have to be met.

TO MAKE A PORT OF BEAUFORT

The Washington correspondent of the Charlotte Observer, writing from the capital on Friday, says:

"Members of the North Carolina delegation are generally well pleased with the treatment accorded the State by the rivers and harbors committee of the House. Senator Simmons said his one source of regret was that the upper Cape Fear was not dealt with in more liberal spirit. Some big things are in store for Beaufort if the plans formulated by certain Senators materialize. Senators Simmons said to-day he was under the impression that the survey made there, which calls for a depth of twenty feet, was in connection with Mr. Small's inland waterway project, and it is his purpose to so amend the present bill when it gets over to the Senate that an independent survey may be had with a view to securing an appropriation sufficient to secure a depth of thirty feet. Senator Simmons to-day discussed this matter with Senator Aldrich, who has taken active interest in the affairs of the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad. It is estimated that it will take about two hundred thousand dollars to secure what is termed a governing depth of thirty feet, in addition to the $45,000 which is carried in the House bill reported yesterday."

The Howland Improvement Company seem to be people who do something. They leased the Atlantic & North Carolina Railroad with a knowledge of the possibility of building up the port of Beaufort and thereby making that railroad an important one instead of a cross country road. It is understood that Senator Aldrich is interested in the railroad, and the harbor scheme at Beaufort will have in him a valuable friend.

Wilmington had better get a move on her if she is to be regarded as North Carolina's chief sea port.

—If it shall be finally decided that biennial sessions fail because of a lack of completeness in the constitutional amendment it will be a most striking evidence of the need of thorough revision of every bill before it is ratified as an act. Errors, more or less serious, are discovered in many acts after the adjournment of every legislature, and these could be avoided if there were a committee whose special duty it is to revise every bill passed and see, as far as possible, that it does not conflict with the constitution in some way or contain in itself errors which make it of no effect.

A DISTINGUISHED PHYSICIAN'S

OPINION REGARDING OLD AGE.

A distinguished physician has recently declared that "Old age is not a time of life—a length of years—but a condition of the bodily tissues, and it is possible for a man at 50 to seem older than a man at 70."

"This is a fact. We happen to know a mother of 84 years, and a daughter of 60 years right here in Wilmington, and honestly you would believe the daughter to be the older of the two. The mother is alert, lively and active, while the daughter is fast losing her mind and memory, and literally dying of old age.

"The secret of youth," says Druggist Bellamy, "is to keep the bodily tissues from wasting, and the greatest discovery known to medicine for this purpose is our cod liver oil preparation, Vinol, as it contains in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but without oil or grease. Vinol is an ideal strengthener and body builder for old folks, it repairs worn tissues, checks the natural decline and replaces weakness with strength as nothing else can.

"Vinol tones up the stomach, creates a healthy appetite, makes rich, red blood and invigorates and strengthens every organ in the body to do its work as nature intended. Vinol is indeed a great blessing to old folks and extracts from such letters as the following prove it:

"Mrs. Sarah J. Windrom, of Chicago, Ill., grand-niece of Alexander Hamilton, says: 'Vinol is a godsend to old people, as it is such a wonderful vitalizer and strength creator.'

Mr. A. J. Baker, of Evansville, Ind., says: "There is nothing like Vinol for the aged, and he would not take a thousand dollars for the good it has done him."

"I just wish every person in Wilmington who 'feels old,' whether they are old in years or not, would try Vinol on our guarantee. We will give back your money if you are not satisfied—we mean this for a fair offer, and it is up to you to prove our good faith." Robt. R. Bellamy, druggist.

— Engineer R. O. Puryear, of Spencer, was struck in the head by a mail crane and instantly killed at Reagle, two miles north of Spencer, at 10:30 o'clock Friday. Mr. Puryear was running passenger train No. 33, which was about five hours late, and was making 50 miles per hour when the accident occurred. The blow was so terrific that he never knew what struck him. Robt. Ford, the colored fireman on the train, saw the engineer place his head out at the window, as he was accustomed to do, and instantly sank into his seat, a dead man. The top of his head was torn off by the iron on the mail crane, and his face was mashed beyond recognition. The remains were brought to Spencer on the same train, the colored fireman being at the throttle when the station was reached, though the train had been stopped, and Conductor Royal had boarded the cab and remained at the side of the mangled form of the dead engineer.

MUST BELIEVE IT.

When Well Known Wilmington People Tell It So Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Wilmington the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading.

B. R. King, the well known policeman, residing at 706 Wooster street, says: "I had terrible pain in my back which worked around to my side and in my stomach, so bad at times that it laid me up. I used internal medicines and they did not help me. I put on plasters and rubbed with liniment, and none of them helped me at all. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills recommended I got a box of them at Bellamy's drug store. The next day after commencing to use them I noticed relief. Since using two boxes of them I have not had an ache or a pain in my back. It is with pleasure that I add my name to those endorsing the claims made for this remedy."

is daily enacted in thousands of homes as death claims, in each one, another victim of consumption or pneumonia. But when coughs and colds are properly treaty the tragedy is averted. F. G. Huntley, of Oaklandon, Ind., writes: "My wife had the consumption, and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which cured her, and to-day she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves. SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Winston-Salem Sentinel, Jan. 26: The Yadkin river was frozen over this morning. Captain Parker, of the Mooresville train, says he never saw anything like it before. The severe winds made many waves and these were frozen. The Fries power plant on the river was forced to close down at 8:30 o'clock last night by the rush of ice down the river. It blocked the machinery. Power for the operation of the street cars and other plants in the city is being furnished from the local station by the use of coal.

— At Monday night a meeting of the citizens of the town was held in the Opera House to get an expression as to the feeling for a dispensary for Dunn. The antis were largely in the majority. Only one speech was made favoring the movement, and that was by Mr. Ed. Penny. Messrs. Snipes, Cashwell and Douglass made ringing speeches opposidg any step in the direction of whiskey, so the overwelming will of the people seems to be "stand pat"——. Dry—except a little from Virginia and some "moonshine."

— Mr. William Renegar, who lived near Hustonville, about 20 miles north of Statesville, hanged himself sometime Friday afternoon in his stable. He was between 25 and 30 years old, and leaves a wife and two children. So far as can be learned the deceased was in fairly good health and no definite cause is assigned for the deed. Something like four years ago he and his brother got into a fight and deceased was stabbed in the breast, suffering a wound that kept him confined to his bed the greater part of 18 months. Another version is that about 3 o'clock he got up and made a fire and was found later at the spring near his house, having hanged himself there.

— Washington correspondence Charlotte Observer, Jan. 27th: Congressman elect Blackburn, together with Mrs. Blackburn and their child, arrived here to-day. Mr. Blackburn spent some time in the Senate chamber and before leaving the capitol said that Vice President-elect Fairbanks had authorized the announcement that he would address the Tar Heel Club in Greensboro on February 22nd. Until to-day Senator Fairbanks had been unable to give a definite answer, as his acceptance of the invitation was rendered doubtful by reason of other engagements. Commissioner of Internal Revenue Yerkes also assured Mr. Blackburn that he would be present on this occasion, as did Congressman Dixon, the Montana Representative, who spent his boyhood days in North Carolina. Mr. Blackburn says the Tar Heel Club is flourishing as the green bay tree.

— A dispatch from Danbury on Friday says: After several days' investigation into alleged irregularities revenue officers were preparing to seize the distillery operated by J. R. Matthews, at Walnut Cove, but they were foiled by the destruction of the plant by fire, which started in the distillery, destroying it and a mule belonging to the firm. The fire soon spread to a packing house nearby which contained a large quantity of tobacco and was owned by Dr. W. A. Lash, of Greensboro. The distillery, which was the largest of three at Walnut Cove, was fitted up with modern steam apparatus and was capable of handling 24 bushels of grain per day. The irregularities alleged are, that the company had a false bottom in the large purifying tank in the top of the house. The space under this bottom was nicely connected with the different apparatus by concealed pipes and thus was used, it is charged, to conceal their illicit products.

— Rowan Luckey, a negro man who lives at Cooleemee, was lodged in jail at Salisbury Friday morning. Luckey is charged with shooting and killing his wife Thursday morning at Cooleemee. The first reports were to the effect that Luckey was drunk and that his wife went after some clothes to wash and iron. Her husband told her not to do this, and when she returned he threatened to shoot her. She laughingly replied that he would do no such thing and then he shot her. Luckey was seen in the jail and told the story which, in the light of the negro's nature and past behavior, is not incredible. He says a negro man had borrowed five cartridges from him, his pistol being a six-shooter. Both he and his wife thought it was unloaded and she playfully began to snap it at him. He told her that she wouldn't shoot him and took hold of the weapon, turning it from him. At that instant the one loaded chamber was discharged and struck his wife above the eye, killing her almost instantly. Luckey made no effort to escape and remained at home until the officers went for him.

— The banquet to be given by the Manufacturers' Club, of High Point, on the evening of February 6th promises to be one of the most auspicious events in the history of the State. Secretary Metcalfe, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, the guest of honor, will leave Washington on the morning of the above date in a special car, attached to No. 97, the fast mail. In his party will be the minister from Cuba, Senators Simmons and Overman, Congressmen Kitchin, Page, Dixon, of Montana; Vice President Finley and M. V. Richards, of the Southern Railway; Thomas Nelson Page, Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, of Charlottesville, and other personal friends of Secretary Metcalfe. Letters of acceptance are coming in from leading manufacturers, bankers, lawyers, editors, college presidents and others, representing this and other Southern States. All arrangements for this banquet are now complete, and High Point is prepared to entertain in splendid style the distinguished visitors who will assemble there on the 6th of February. The officials of the Southern Railway are extending every courtesy, and a number of them will attend the banquet.

COTTON MARKETS

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of two to four points, which was rather better than due on the cables. The indifferent response on the English market to the local advance of the previous day, however, was offset to some extent by the very small receipts and smaller shorts were unsettled by rumors that Wall street shorts were covering and that a large Texas operator was taking a turn on the long side. New Orleans sold here, however and the market following the call, while steady, gained ground slowly with prices in the middle of the morning about 3 to 4 points net higher. Mr. Winterton's Good Luck

(Original.)

Clarence Winterton was one of those scions of an excellent family who, having spent what patrimony had come down to him, still continued "in the swim." He possessed a business suit, as he called it—though he never did any business—and a dress suit, which he invariably put on in the evening, thus making up the sixteen of the twenty-four hours he was out of bed. This, with his club membership, was his capital, without which he could not otherwise have existed.

The truth is Winterton had inherited from a long line of gentlemen an inability to do ordinary work. Despite this glaring defect—a defect only in a man without the wealth to which he had been born—Winterton was much beloved. It was natural to him to make friends. He couldn't help making people love him, and they couldn't help loving him. When he listened to their concerns, it was through instinct, not policy. When he sympathized with them, it was from the kindness of his heart. Even the tradesmen, who could not collect their bills of him, admired him.

Winterton was in love with one of his set—they were all rich except him—but, strange to say, his modesty—that is, his poverty—prevented him from proposing. The girl, Miss Frances West, adored him. He had shown her what a woman is quick to discern—that he was in love with her—and she felt assured that his reason for not asking her to be his wife was that she was rich and he was impoverished. She had gained his every confidence except how he managed to live. "There is something left of our once large estates," he told her, then immediately turned the subject. What that something was he only knew. Miss West suspected that it was his grandfather's watch, which he wore "because it was an heirloom."

One day Miss West went in behalf of her father, who was an old man and an invalid, to a shirt maker, where she met Mr. Winterton. He was promising the haberdasher to settle his account within a few days when Miss West entered. Indeed she distinctly heard the words, "I shall be flush by Thursday and will certainly"— At this point he saw the girl, turned, with a courtly bow, stood for a moment chatting, hat in hand, then left the store.

A few days later Mr. Winterton received a call from a lady who announced herself as a friend of Miss West's in behalf of a charity. Mr. Winterton excused himself for a few minutes, went to a pawn shop around the corner, left his grandfather's watch and brought back a bill, which he handed the solicitor.

When Mr. Winterton called on Miss West that evening, he asked her how she was getting on with her charity, and learned that she had no especial work of that kind then on hand. He knew that something was wrong, but managed to back out gracefully without letting the lady know of his subscription. Then Miss West asked him what o'clock it was, and he was obliged to make up a story about his missing watch.

That night Miss West lay awake thinking. The next morning she sent a messenger to the haberdasher's where she had met Winterton with a request for his bill. The tradesman, supposing the message came from Winterton, wrote a polite note, inclosing a receipted bill with $2 in currency, stating that possibly Mr. Winterton did not know when he subscribed to a charity he was paying a legitimate debt. The amount returned was in excess. Then the matter was plain to Miss West that the tradesman, taking advantage of Winterton's acquaintance with her, had worked a plot to get the amount of his bill.

The next time Winterton called on Miss West, while making one of his gallant declarations as to what he would sacrifice for her, she interrupted him with a request to give her that lovely, old fashioned watch which had belonged to his grandfather.

"I couldn't," stammered Winterton. "It's an heirloom."

"Just now you were protesting your devotion for me. It appears that you are more devoted to your grandfather."

"But the watch is loaned to a friend."

"If you think more of your friend than me you may leave it with him."

"But the friend is—great heavens, do you wish me to explain a matter involving a lady?"

Miss West laughed. "A lady with three beautiful golden balls hanging before his shop!"

Winterton opened his eyes.

"I have solved another mystery," Miss West went on without explaining the first. And she produced the haberdasher's letter, with receipted bill and $2. Winterton read it. Like a cornered stag, he sought an egress.

"This letter," he said, "involves a number of singular coincidences." Miss West thrust her hand into the folds of some lace across her bosom and drew out his grandfather's watch.

Mr. Winterton was staggered. This was like getting ready to lead a forlorn hope against an overwhelming enemy and having another enemy come down from another quarter.

"Clarence," said Miss West, "please don't tell me any more lies."

This is all of the story that ever got out. Society heard it and laughed in its sleeve. Not knowing of Miss West's partiality for Mr. Winterton, it was naturally supposed that she treated him with the contempt to be expected. But society discovered itself to be wrong when the announcement was made of Mr. Winterton's and Miss West's engagement.

Bees Used In War.

There are at least two recorded instances in which bees have been used as weapons of defense in war. When the Roman general Lucullus was warring against Mithridates, he sent a force against the city of Themiscyra. As they besieged the walls the inhabitants threw down on them myriads of swarms of bees. These at once began an attack, which resulted in the raising of the siege. These doughty little insects were also once used with equal success in England. Chester was besieged by the Danes and Norwegians, but its Saxon defenders threw down on them the beehives of the town, and the siege was soon raised.

BOLEROS FOR SPRING.

Pretty Foreign Touches on These Always Useful Garments.

Some very enticing innovations are appearing in outdoor shirred bolero jackets. The latter are just too cute for anything, as one impulsive young girl told me. It is difficult to exactly define in what the novelty consists in these boleros, but that they do differ from any before offered we must admit even if we cannot define the change. One thing is certain, however, and that is they all have something of a foreign military character. The way the braid is applied and the tiny buttons are placed and the peculiar ornamentation of the cuffs, shoulders and stiff collars remind one of the hussar styles, particularly when some of the braid is gone. In some cases the braid is all gold, but more often there is but one line of metal braid between two or four of ordinary black soutache. But this is quite enough, for it is so showy that the black tones it down to real elegance.

To particularize, one very stylish and handsome bolero has a high stiff military collar with only black castle braid on it, and this same braid in hercules weight goes around the neck and down the front, besides being brought up in front on each side in a turned point, with three tiny round gold buttons on the turn and three more below.

At the back the bolero comes quite to the skirt line, and there is a belt across the back of thick braid which is brought around in front and fastened so that the fastening is not seen. A line of gold lace follows the braid around the neck and also across the back and around the outer flowing sleeves and the narrow sleeves at the wrists. The bolero is made of very heavy black silk, but is lined with cherry colored satin.

In such a jacket and a hat of black and yellow straw of the most decided tricorne shape a girl is bound to look pretty. Any fine black goods would be suitable for this bolero, velvet above all.

Another of these semimilitary jackets is more elaborate, but certainly no prettier. The whole suit is made of a cloth which has a luster like Irish poplin and the good qualities of silk. The skirt of the gown has a seam down the front, cut very slightly on the bias, to set it out at the foot. Almost meeting around the skirt are two folds fastened to the skirt by a self piping. This fold is cut in two and joined by a velvet piping, and the lower half is edged with a narrow reversed plaiting of black velvet.

There is a close vest of white satin, with narrow gold soutache loopings and gold buttons. Over this is worn the bolero, which is trimmed both on the outside and along the edges with fancy soutache mixed with fine black silk braid. Pretty designs are wrought in military style on the shoulders and on the sleeves. The deep caps on the sleeves have the effect of widening the shoulders.

The special hat to be worn with this suit is a matter of taste, but when the wearer is a young girl a tricorne, if becoming, is the best design. For a young married lady I should advise a hat of fine black straw, with three bias folds of white satin around the rim, a soft draping of black louisine around the crown and a lot of pink roses set just above the face. One little point is worthy of mention, and that is that crepe lisse ruches are worn around the neck and tied at the left side with a little bow of black velvet ribbon. Some are simply sewed in the band. These ruffs were always pretty and softening to any face. They will divide honors with the close stocks now so well beloved of woman.

Another innovation, we may call it, though things have been pointing that way for some time, is the full skirts gathered or plaited from the waist line and trimmed quite lavishly around the bottom. Three and four separate skirts are made on some of them, while others have a series of bias folds superposed one above the other. Others again have just plain flounces without any attempt at subterfuge. Some have the fullness around the hips taken in by box plaits, side plaits, short stitched plaits or plain gathers. One skirt made in this way was very pretty. The upper part was gathered at the waist and fell straight down to the foot, where there were two plaitings of inch wide velvet ribbon headed by one row each of black soutache. Indeed braids are seen everywhere, and the variety is astonishing.

Deep bertha capes are sometimes completely covered with fine soutache braiding in vermicelli pattern, and few dresses are made without some effort at the sloping shoulder effect.

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, JAN. 29.

GRIDIRON BURLESQUERS.

Famous Club of Washington Newspaper Men Make Fun With the President, Col. Bryan and Speaker Cannon.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The Gridiron Club celebrated its twentieth anniversary with a dinner at the New Willard to-night, which was attended by 250 guests, including the President, members of his official family, representatives of the courts, the Senate and House and the army and navy as well as men of prominence in the literary, scientific and business world.

While the anniversary was signalized in making Major John M. Carson president of the club, and in the production of a souvenir which told the story of a score of years of successful dining, the dinner, like all others of this famous organization of Washington correspondents, dealt with present events which were treated with the usual levity and burlesque and satirized, while the prominent guests were roasted in the good-natured and witty way that makes Gridiron dinners so enjoyable.

The presence of Mr. Roosevelt afforded an opportunity to make many pointed allusions to doings of the administration and views of the chief magistrate. The inauguration of Major Carson as president, with a rough rider accompaniment, and a reference to the charge of the President's regiment at Santiago, was managed by a khaki clothed band which played "There'll be a hot time in the old town to night."

The impending impeachment proceedings in Congress were satirized by having all the Senators present "not under indictment" sit in a trial of Speaker Cannon who was charged with eight counts, among which were that the speaker had refused to comply with the anti-smoke ordinance; that he insisted that the House was a co ordinate branch of the government to the mental anguish of many Senators; that he had with scorn refused the vice-presidency, thus thrusting upon the country Charles W. Fairbanks; and that he had been guilty of pushing in too many chips on a bob-tailed flush and was caught in the act. The speaker knowing his plea was adjudged guilty and Senator Gorman pronounced sentence.

"Frenzied Finance" was the theme of a pretentious skit which burlesqued some late events in banking, brokerage and railroadings and introduced "Colonel Bill Green," "Tom Lawson" and "Mrs. Cassie Chadwick," who were portrayed by members of the club. Amidst the many bright things in the dialogue were hits on many of the guests about the tables.

There was a controversy as to who was the "Original Roosevelt man," and verses of poetry were recited alleged to have been written by the several different men asserting that they were the "original." The list included Senators Lodge, Foraker, Beveridge and Scott and Indian Commissioner Leupp. Major Carson rejected all their claims and introduced the President of the United States as the "Original Roosevelt man," who responded in a great speech.

Topical songs made merry with the names of several guests, including the President, Senators Knox, Kearns and Mr. Bryan, the song for the Nebraska man declaring that he was "The only man who could lead the Democratic band." Mr. Bryan was then introduced to speak. John S. Wise of New York made one of his "Spell binding" speeches, which was made the topic of a controversy as to whether he had not hypnotized his audience and to prove that hypnotism was something tangible, one member operated on two others who were told that they represented different guests at the dinner. One member was told that he was Justice Brewer and immediately began to deliver an opinion of the Supreme Court which was too complex to be understood. The other was told he was Whitelaw Reid as ambassador to Great Britian and began making a "Hands across the sea" speech. One when told that he was Senator Fairbanks and asked to make a direct statement, balked, as did the others.

By a speaking tube supposed to connect with the lobby of the hotel many interesting bits of information were transmitted through a member of the club. The suggestion was made that there should be a joint debate between the President and Mr. Bryan. "What's the use," was the answer, "they are both on the same side." Senator Lodge, who is known as a close friend of the President, was notified that proofs of his latest work were below entitled "Tribulations of a Bosom Friend." The audience was then told that J. H. Maddy, who left the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to go with the Erie, had been presented with a loving cup by his friends, which was inscribed: "From bad to worse." Query was made whether the power plant is violating the smoke nuisance ordinance in Washington and the answer: "No, sir; President Roosevelt is here and you bet your life they are not smoking."

Among the prominent guests were President Roosevelt, Associate Justice Brewer, of the Supreme Court; Baron des Pische, the Italian ambassador; Baron Von dem Bussche-Haddenhausen, German embassy; Senators Crane, Dietrich, Depew, Dryden, Fairbanks, Gorman, Kearns, Knox, Kittredge, Lodge, Long, Platt, of Connecticut; Scott and Stone; Speaker Cannon and Representatives Bartholdt, Burton, Grosvenor, Harrison, Legare, Lucking and Sibley; William J. Bryan, Nebraska; J. W. Blythe, Geo. W. Boyd, Pennsylvania; J. M. Culp, Southern Railway; Charles S. Dichie, assistant general manager Associated Press; Charles H. Grasty, Baltimore Evening News; Col. W. M. Green, New York; Gen. Charles E. Humphrey, U. S. A.; Wm. Loeb, secretary to the President; Governor Edward C. Stokes, New Jersey; Chas. R. Miller, New York Times; William R. Nelson, Kansas City Star; Geo. W. Ochs, Philadelphia Ledger; Whitelaw Reid, New York Tribune; John A. Sleicher, Leslie's Weekly; Percy R. Vodd, New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad; F. D. Underwood, Erie railroad; Gen. John M. Wilson, U. S. A.

A GREAT BATTLE IS BEING FOUGHT.

Kuropatkin Forcing the Fighting With an Army of Nearly 300,000 Men.

RUSSIANS CLAIM VICTORY.

News That Oyama's Left Wing Has Been Pierced and His Communications Are Threatened—Rumors of a General Engagement.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

TOKIO, Jan. 28.—The long inactivity on the Shakhe river was broken January 25th, when General Kuropatkin advanced a full corps from the vicinity of Chengtsu. Field Marshal Oyama immediately assumed the aggressive and engagements occurred at Chenchiephao and Helkoutai. Oyama reports that he defeated the Russians at Chenchiephao. The engagement at Helkoutai was progressing when the Field Marshal reported. The official telegram does not disclose the object of the Russians and does not indicate the prospects of a general engagement.

GENERAL ENGAGEMENT IN PROGRESS.

MUKDEN, Jan. 27, 10:44 P. M.—(Delayed in transmission.)—A general engagement is progressing. Only the left flank is not involved. The hospitals here and at Harbin have been put in readiness to receive numbers of the wounded, of whom about a thousand have already arrived at Mukden. Several hundred Japanese were made prisoners. The battle commenced on the right flank on General Kuropatkin's initiative. The Japanese were driven back about five miles from their advanced positions defended by the reserve brigades. The fighting extended January 26th to the center. The Japanese endeavored to take Poutiloff hill and other positions but were driven back with heavy loss.

The men going into battle are well prepared for the weather conditions, being warmly clad and shod, well fed and in good spirits.

The activity of General Mistchenko's fast riding cavalry continues. A large Japanese transport train was captured on the extreme right of the West flank.

RUMORS OF VICTORY AND DEFEAT.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 28, 6:10 P. M.—Opinions differ here as to the significance and importance of the movement undertaken by General Kuropatkin. It is very difficult to ascertain the truth. Many persons are inclined to believe that it is a genuine offensive against the Japanese with the object of forcing them out of their winterquarters, while others look upon it as being a more or less serious operation undertaken upon orders from St. Petersburg to draw the attention of the people anew to the theatre of war. In the meantime the general maintains reticence regarding the plans of the commander-in-chief. All dispatches from Russian correspondents at the front foreshadow a big and bloody battle of a decisive character. They tell of arrangements for the receipt of an immense number of wounded not only at Mukden but as far back as Harbin, and speak under yesterday's date of a general engagement in which almost 1,350,000 men were to be involved, and say that the importance of the engagement will overshadow the battles of Shakhe river and Lia Yang. Rumors are already flying about of defeat and victory. Success they all admit will be of immeasurable value to the government at this juncture, while disaster would serve to complicate the situation and render the government's position still more difficult if not critical.

RUSSIAN LOSS AT SANDEPAS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 28.—A telegram from Unanslamutun says the Russians lost 45 officers and 1,000 men killed or wounded at the capture of the village of Sandepas, January 25th. The Russians took 102 Japanese prisoners, besides arms, wagons and ammunition.

The general staff has received the following dispatch from Gen. Sakharoff, General Kuropatkin's chief of staff: "Our troops continue on the offensive at Sandepas. South of there our cavalry encountered four Japanese battalions and six squadrons of cavalry advancing from Helkoutai. The Japanese fled, throwing their arms into ambulance wagons. One of our columns took thirty prisoners and another captured twenty."

AMERICAN SHIP CAPTURED.

TOKIO, Jan. 28, 2 P. M.—The American steamer M. S. Dolly, en route for Vladivostok with a cargo of provisions and forage, was seized yesterday by the Japanese in the Pacific ocean east of Hokkaido island.

BROKE THROUGH JAP LINES.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 29, 12:50 A. M.—According to reports current in military circles, General Kuropatkin has broken through Field Marshal Oyama's left wing and threatens his communications with Yinkow. Whether or not the report is true, the Associated Press learns from a high military source that General Kuropatkin has undertaken a general offensive movement on both flanks with the object of threatening both lines of Japanese communications and forcing the Japanese from their winter quarters. The informant of the Associated Press said:

"After General Mistchenko's raid, General Kuropatkin decided that Oyama's position could be turned westward from the plains. The advance has absolutely no connections with events in European Russia. It as has been reported, the Russians have already succeeded in piercing the Japanese left they doubtless will be able to reach a point west of Lia Yang, in which case the Japanese will be outflanked. A similar movement southward from Bentsiapuize will strike the Japanese line of communication toward the Yalu. Although cold, the weather is ideal for winter campaigning. The ground is hard and the rivers frozen solid, making the handling of artillery easy."

No further official news was received from the front Saturday night. Gein Kuropatkin has something short of 300,000 men, and only 1,100 guns on position on his center. The troops engaged on the right in addition to Gen. Mischeikos and Gen. Rennankamff's cavalry are believed to be principally Siberian part of the Europearn army.

A cablegram from Paris states that President Roosevelt has written an autograph letter to Frederick Mistral, the provencal poet, who was recently awarded the Nobel prize for literature. The letter acknowledges the receipt of a volume of Mistral's poems and then warmly approves the poet's teachings as applied to busy American life.

The House of the Arkansas general assembly yesterday by a vote of 54 to 26 indefinitely postponed the Burgess bill providing for separation of school taxes on racial lines. The object of the bill was to make negro public schools dependent upon taxes paid by negroes. In his message to the assembly, Gov. Davis urged the passage of such a bill.

BIG CONFLAGRATION AT PORTSMOUTH, VA.

Fire Raging This Morning in Principal Business Section—Departments of Two Cities at Work.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NORFOLK, VA., Jan. 28.—Fire which originated from unknown causes in the ice factory of Chas. R. Nash, on Queen street, Portsmouth, at 1:30 this morning, is eating its way through a business block in the heart of Portsmouth and is uncontrolled. At the present time the Nash building and adjoining coal yard, containing the ice of Wm. G. Maupin, and a large two-story double tenement have been destroyed and adjoining property is burning. The fire is being fanned by a fair north wind and is likely to reach High street, the principal business street of Portsmouth, before it can be checked.

At 2:45 A. M. assistance has been asked from Norfolk and engines have been sent from Norfolk to the scene.

At 3 A. M. the fire had spread to the big four-story Crawford house, at Crawford and Queen streets, and to the store adjoining, the five story furniture store of J. S. Crawford, on High street. This latter burning building is occupied by the Wainwright Cigar Company, on the ground, and by apartment dwellers on the second and third floors.

The fire is being fought by the entire Portsmouth fire department, a volunteer hose company, an engine company from the navy yard and engine companies from Norfolk. A company of marines from the navy yard barracks have been called out and are aiding the firemen.

At 3:30 this morning, the Crawford House, a four story building, occupied by Mrs. M. A. Eubridge, as a boarding house, was gutted as was the four story brick residence at Crawford and Queen streets, which was unoccupied. The residence of Major E. M. Wright, across the street, was burned to the ground and then the fire spread to the rear of the Rosenbaum block, on High street, burning the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., the Southern Shorthand and Business University, several law offices and lodge rooms of nearly all the fraternal orders of Portsmouth. The store of the New York Clothing Company, in the Rosenbaum block, was also burned.

The fire is now confined to the block bounded by High, Queen, London and Middle streets.

The millinery store and residence of Mrs. Annie L. Stokes has been destroyed as has the rental and insurance offices of E. L. Dashiels, adjoining the big hotel LaFayette, which is in danger at this time.

Flying brands are spreading the fire, and engine companies and firemen are kept busy rushing from one point to another putting out small fires.

At 4 A. M. the fire is under control. No estimate of the loss can be had this morning, but it will run up very heavy.

BIG NAVAL PROGRAMME.

The Appropriation Bill Calls for $100,078,079—Charleston Gets $396,000; Norfolk $148,000.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The naval appropriation bill agreed upon in committee yesterday was reported to-day by Chairman Foss, of the House committee on naval affairs. The bill carries an appropriation of $100,070,079, while the estimates aggregated $119,699,638. The appropriation last year was $3,564,939 less than this year. Authority is given the secretary of the navy to construct by contract or in a government navy yard, as he deems to the best interest of the service, the collier authorized last year to be built at a navy yard on the Pacific coast.

The bill contains these items: Charleston, S. C., $396,000; Norfolk, $148,000; Pensacola, $155,500; New Orleans, $95,000; Key West, $29 000.

Commenting on the naval progress the report says:

"The committee finally believes that the policy of Congress to build up the American navy should be continued and accordingly, notwithstanding the fact that we are now building a large number of battleships and cruisers, recommend what in its judgment is a reasonably strong programme for the coming year—a programme which it feels assured will meet the approval of the American people. Our great national policies, the construction of the Panama canal, the insistence on the Monroe doctrine, the protection of American citizens, the support of our foreign policies, the great work of the regeneration of the Philippines and the national defence all demand that the building up of the navy shall go on.

TO INVESTIGATE STEEL TRUST

The Senate Yesterday Pronounced Eulogies on the Late Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Eulogies upon the character of the late Senator Geo. F. Hoar, of Massachusetts, practically engrossed the time of the Senate to-day. There were sixteen speeches by as many Senators, including Senator Hoar's colleague, Mr. Lodge, and his successor, Mr. Crane. After the conclusion of the memorial services the Senate adjourned out of respect to the dead Senator's memory.

Among the speakers were Messrs. Daniel, Bacon and Cockrell. Mr. Petius took occasion to speak especially of Senator Hoar's ancestry and Mr. Gorman paid a high tribute to the dead Senator's fairness to the South in the period succeeding the war, saying: "He was thoughout it all, a man of infinite compassion, of comprehensive sympathies, of noble and unselfish impulses. He was a partisan without rancor, an antagonist without bitterness, a friend without reservations and conditions, a conqueror without vengeance, a loser without resentment."

House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—In a session of less than two hours to-day the House passed 373 pension bills and received for the calendar the naval and diplomatic appropriation bills. The session was devoted to legislation entirely devoid of discussion.

A resolution was agreed to, authorising the Department of Commerce and Labor to investigate the iron and steel industry in the United States.

RUSSIAN STRIKE STILL LOOKS GRAVE.

Confident Tone to Statements, But There Are Indications That All Is Not Well.

PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT.

Editors in Prison for Organizing an Opposition Government to the Czar. Looks Like Insurrection in Poland—Serious at Moscow.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

Despite the fact that the strike in Russia is spreading in the Baltic provinces and in Poland, no disturbances of any importance were reported Saturday and tranquility, it is hoped by the authorities, will prevail to-day. In Moscow, where 23,000 men are still out, although work has been resumed in nearly all the mills, the situation appears to be threatening. The men in the industrial section became turbulent during Saturday night. The authorities declare that measures have already been taken to prevent trouble in Moscow. Arms have been removed from gunsmith shops and patrols of the streets are continued. In the Baltic provinces and in Poland the strikers are cutting telegraph lines and causing interruptions, and fears are expressed for most serious disorders, especially in Poland.

No further reports have been received at St. Petersburg, concerning the fighting in Manchuria, although in military circles in the capital a report is current that General Kuropatkin has broken through General Oyama's left wing and now threatens Japanese communications with Yinkow. The Associated Press learns that Kuropatkin has undertaken a general offensive movement with the object of threatening both lines of Japanese communication and forcing the Japanese from their winter quarters.

EDITORS CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 25.—Maxim Gorky, the novelist, has been brought back from Riga to the St. Petersburg fortress to which several leading writers on the Nasha Zeen (Our Life) and Nashabien (Our Time), the new reform papers, were also taken after arrest. M. Hessen, editor of Pravo, and Mr. Herejeff and Sheriakoff, two famous Russian historians, and several others who made up the delegation which called on M. Witte, January 21, in an endeavor to get him to intervene with Interior Minister Sviatopolk-Mirsky in order to prevent trouble between the troops and strikers the following Sunday, and who were arrested early in the week are understood to be charged with trying to set up a provisional government.

There is much gossip about what is occurring at Tsarko-Selo, but the only thing certain is that the Emperor and his advisers have not reached a decision regarding further action. It is not known, however, that a project for the creation of a sort of Zemsykzabor with a limited membership and along the lines of the old Russian parliament as a consultative body to his majesty, but without power of action, has been discussed.

THREATENING AT MOSCOW.

MOSCOW, Jan. 28.—The situation here to-night is slightly more threatening. The men in the industrial section are indulging in Saturday night sprees and have become turbulent. The disposition of troops makes serious trouble to-morrow unlikely, but if the men continue drinking there undoubtedly will be disorders. The authorities, however, still hope to avoid bloodshed.

PHILIPPINES DUTIES.

Secretary Taft Makes Argument for Reducing Tariff on Sugar and Tobacco, Colloquy With Mr. Williams.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Secretary Taft made an argument to-day before the House Committee on Ways and Means in favor of the Curtis bill reducing the duty on sugar and tobacco from the Philippines. He said: "The present status of the islands, so far as our relations with them are concerned, will remain the same throughout the present generation and probably longer."

With this in view, he maintained, it would be as just to establish a tariff between the States of Ohio and Pennsylvania as between the United States and the Philippines. Ultimate free trade would have to come between the islands and the United States.

Mr. Williams, of Mississippi, the minority floor leader, asked the Secretary if it was not the Republican policy to give the islands ultimate independence. The Secretary affirmed this, stating that such would be the case when the people of the islands were capable of self government.

"Self government as the American understands it, or as the Filipino understands it?" asked Mr. Williams.

"I doubt if they ever reach the self governing capacity of Americans," the secretary replied.

"Well," asserted Mr. Williams, "There is not so horrible much difference between you and the Democrats. You believe in granting self government when the people are ready and we believe in fixing a date for their independence."

Secretary Taft replied: "Yes, that is practically it. Whenever they reach the conditiou where they have a reasonable public opinion which may be relied upon to restrain radicalism; when inter-island communication has been established and when conditions generally have become settled—then if they desire independence, give it to them. If they don't, if they desire a bond which might become sweet by coming inside our tariff wall, that might be considered."

Mr. Williams: "Even then you would make them a self governing colony?"

Secretary Taft: "Yes sir."

Mr. Williams remarked that the Republican position at first was that we are to keep the islands forever. Secretary Taft said there was no danger whatever that either sugar or tobacco from the Philippines will swamp, or even figure in the markets of this country.

The secretary regarded the fear of the cigar makers of this country that the free entry of Philippine tobacco to the United States would be injurious to them to be unfounded and thought they would profit by importation of raw material from the Philippines. But few cigars were made in the islands as compared to the great number made in this country, he said, adding that the demand for home consumption was enormous, it being estimated that six-sevenths of the Christian Filipinos smoke tobacco.

TALE OF HORRIBLE SUFFERING

Schooner John G. Schmidt Wrecked in Recent Storm—The Crew Thirty Hours in Rigging.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—A story of terrible suffering in the Winter gale which swept the Atlantic coast last Wednesday and Thursday was told by the seven men of the crew of the Philadelphia schooner John G. Schmidt, who were brought here to-day on the Dutch East Indian mail steamer Prins Maurits. They were taken from the rigging of their waterlogged, leaking craft yesterday afternoon after three days of hopeless struggle with the elements. For more than thirty hours the men had clung to the rigging with neither food nor water, suffering intensely from the cold. All of them were terribly exhausted and scarcely able to retain their hold on the rigging when the Prins Maurits came to their rescue. The sea was running very high and the men were rescued by the Prins Maurits life boat only with the greatest difficulty.

Captain Norbury, of the Schmidt says he sailed from Georgetown, S. C. for Boston on January 18th with a full cargo of hard pine lumber. Last Wednesday the schooner ran into the gale off Winter Quarter schoals. The northwest wind blew with terrific force, raising a tremendous high cross sea which boarded the vessel fore and aft and flooded her decks continually for 30 hours. The weather became extremely cold and there were frequent snow qualls. The Schmidt labored and strained until she sprung a leak, filled and became a complete wreck at the mercy of wind and sea. The crew succeeded in lashing themselves to the rigging with the greatest difficulty, being exposed to the seas, which constantly broke on board. They had not tasted food for thirty hours and were almost exhausted and about to fall off into the sea when the Prins Maurits came to their rescue.

SEABOARD AIR LINE.

Stockholders' Committee Opposed to the Recent Re-organization Plan.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BALTIMORE, MD., Jan. 28.—The committee of stockholders of the Seaboard Air Line appointed at a recent meeting in this city to investigate the new financial plan in behalf of the dissenting stockholders, had a meeting to-day. After the meeting C. Morton Stewart, chairman of the committee, made the following statement:

"The agreement and plan as offered by T. F. Ryan and others, committee, was gone over and carefully considered in detail. It was the unanimous opinion of our committee that the agreement and plan fo Thomas F. Ryan and others, committee, as proposed, should not be entered into by the stockholders of the Seaboard system and that no stock should be deposited under its terms and conditions. The reasons for this conclusion of our committee are that it considers the agreement and plan proposed wholly unjust and of doubtful legality. A further meeting of the committee will be held on Tuesday, when a final report will be made regarding the entire plan in all of its aspects, both legal and financial."

This committee is composed of C. Morton Stewart, chairman, Carl Ruhrstrat, James L. Sellman, B. Howard Hamman and J. Skelton Williams. The committe represents stockholders who own 50,000 shares of stock in the company.

An Attractive Window.

In the windows of the C. W. Polvogt Co. we notice a display of the Boxbay never-tear silk. This window has attracted the attention of the public for the past two or three days. An attractive figure draped with this famous silk (that will never tear, but it will wear) has two Scotch terriers pulling away at the ruffles of the skirt, an electric talking sign is suspended in the middle of the window, which is working all night and is attracting crowds as they pass by after closing hours. The window was dressed by Mr. A. L. Price, of the C. W. Polvogt Co. This silk will be on sale, beginning to-morrow morning at fifty cents per yard. All shades can be furnished. To introduce this silk, the manufacturers have given the Polvogt Co. a case of handsome mirrors. One mirror will be given with every sale of five yards or more to the first one hundred customers. You have both the manufacturers' and the Polvogt Co.'s personal guarantee that this silk will never tear.
